Opportunity

REPUCOM is a leading global information provider to the sponsorship industry, focusing on one single objective: to deliver invaluable insights into best practice marketing solutions in the sponsorship and branded content space. Repucom is looking for bright, motivated individuals with an interest in sports and media analysis. As an intern, you will participate in exciting projects and form important contacts within the industry, which could help in future employment with REPUCOM or other future endeavors.

What To Expect

- Data analytics company with sports focus
- Fast-paced, team environment
- Valuable experience with researching and building sales funnel
- Exposure to the major rights holders, brands and networks in US sponsorship market
- Internship mentor to help provide guidance and aid in personal development

How to Apply

Please send a CV and cover letter discussing what you find interesting about Brand Sponsorship in sports to careers@repucom.net.

Prospective interns should have at least 3 to 6 months to devote to an internship and a high level of interest in Sports Media Analysis.

Keep In Touch – The REPUCOM Intern Alumni Program

We would like to remain in touch with selected interns at the conclusion of their internship and include them in our Intern Alumni Program, 'Keep In Touch.'

Interns participating in this program will receive career opportunities prior to their official publication. We also offer our support for dissertations and theses and submit invitations to informal discussions with members of the executive board
